LITTLE TYPHOID HERE

No Typhoid Cases Are Traced
To City Water, According To Bacteriologist

Charts made of the reportable diseases by E. M. Stanton, city bacteriologist, shows Bismarck to be a healthy city.

The charts, covering a period since 1917 give the number of cases and deaths of persons resident of the city. Cities which are hospital centers, such as Bismarck, often have reported a larger rate of sickness and mortality than is justified by the population of the city.

The four diseases charted are typhoid fever, scarlet fever, smallpox and diphtheria.

There were the following number of typhoid fever cases in the city in the last five years as follows: 1917, 10 cases; 1918, none; 1919, two cases; one in March and one in August; 6 cases in 1920; two in September two in October and two in November; 1921, 11 cases, one in January; two in May; two in September; two in November; four in December.

Because of incomplete information the sources of all cases was not traced, Mr. Stanton said. Three of the 1921 cases were traced to well water he said. All occurred in various parts of the city, except the west end. The fact that they were thus scattered and not focused indicated that the city water supply was not responsible for the cases, Mr. Stanton said. It is probable, he said, that the cases originated from well supplies or the disease was brought in from the country.

Diphtheria Course

Scarlet fever has caused more trouble and is the only disease to be marked general increase. There were 16 cases in 1917, eight cases in 1918, 18 in 1919, 73 in 1920 and 22 in 1921. There were 10 cases of smallpox in 1917, in 1918, 8 in 1919, 71 in 1920 and 71 in 1921. Mr. Stanton asserts that smallpox increased following a court ruling under which many people declined to have children vaccinated.

There were eight cases of diphtheria in 1917, two in 1918, none in 1919, two in 1920 and 61 in 1921. The course of diphtheria was traced by the health authorities. The first case in this section of the state in 1921 occurred in the fall of 1920 in Dickinson, the disease being brought there from Montana. The next case was in Richardson, then Killdeer, Hebron, Lafayette and the disease jumped to Wilton. It is believed the first case was brought to Bismarck from Wilton.

States Attorney Rushes to Combat Labor Chief's Efforts

Chicago, May 23.—Plans of "Big Tim" Murphy, "Con" Shea and Fred Mader, the "big three" labor leaders named in indictments in connection with recent murders and bombings, failed again today in their efforts to gain freedom when Judge Klockham Scanlon for the third time continued hearings at which they wished to have a trial date set. Judge Scanlon's action was taken when the state again announced that new indictments against the men would be returned by the grand jury.

Chicago, May 23.—Chicago labor's "big three" today planned a renewed effort to obtain release from jail bond or failing that, to at least force the city and state authorities to reveal some of the evidence. It insists on connecting with them with police murders, bomb plantings, beatings and property damage to the extent of approximately $1,000,000.

To combat this step states attorneys rushed a dozen or more additional witnesses before the grand jury and claimed evidence was given to connect the big three with terrorism, slugging and bombing.

CONFESSION IS REPUDIATED

Sacramento, Calif., May 23.—John Drexel, who surrendered himself at the Sacramento city jail last night and asserted he had been implicated in the escape of Tommy O'Connor from the Cook county jail at Chicago, last December, today repudiated his story and declared he knew nothing of the escape of the condemned murderer. He also denied knowledge of any robbery at Evanston or of any Texas bank.

St. Paul, May 23.—John Drexel, held in Sacramento, Calif., formerly was an inmate of the Minnesota state reformatory at St. Cloud. He completed his sentence in Minnesota and is no longer wanted here.

MAKE EXTENSIONS

The Industrial Commission has authorized its secretary to make extensions of time payment on farm loans as permitted by law in cases where persons who have the loans are unable to pay them. The law permits one year's extension after one year's installment is due.

PINCHOT TO PUT ROOSEVELT IDEALS
INTO EFFECT IN PENNSYLVANIAMR. AND MRS. CLIFFORD PINCHOT ARE HAPPY AFTER HIS POLITICAL VICTORY.

BY EDWARD M. THIERRY.

(Copyright, 1922, by NEA Service)
Milford, Pa., May 23.—The spirit of Theodore Roosevelt lives again.

His disciple, Gifford Pinchot, who startled the country by upsetting the rock-ribbed boss system of Pennsylvania and winning the Republican nomination for governor, is already working on a program of progressive government that unquestionably has its inspiration 10 years ago Roosevelt.

"One of the most delightful things," Pinchot said, "was the practically unanimous support given me by the people who were behind T. R. in 1912."

Pinchot, who came to "Grey Towers," his Pike county home, to rest after the campaign, told me of his plans.

"A most powerful factor in the campaign," Pinchot said, "was that the appeal for better government was made directly to the individual man and woman in all parts of the state. The result is proof that it was heard."

This is an old Roosevelt doctrine. Pinchot's first thought in mapping out his program is the welding together of the fragments of the split Republican party. His most spectacular act was sending word to his defeated opponent, Atty. Gen. George A. Allen, inviting him to "Grey Towers" to consult on plans for the fall campaign. Everybody is climbing on the Pinchot bandwagon and it is believed he will have little difficulty in defeating the Democratic candidate.

"Mine is not going to be a one-man government," Pinchot said. "The fellow who plays a lone hand, under such circumstances as exist in this state, is bound to fail."

"I want to be in touch with the best thought in the state on all questions I'm going to spend the summer here working out that program. I've won, but I haven't got the swelled head. I'm not going to get the idea that I know it all. I want other fellows to help me."

Pinchot said very decisively that he was not grooming himself for the presidency, in spite of the nation-wide talk of an eventuality.

"When a man gets the presidential bee buzzing in his bonnet it's all off," he said. "I've seen too many good governors ruined that way. I have no ambition to be president. The governor job will keep me busy."

High up on the Pinchot program is setting the state finances straight.

"I'm going to put the budget system into effect," he said. "And I don't intend to lose any time about it. Within a few weeks I will appoint a volunteer committee of men and women, the best equipped in the state, to examine the situation and suggest a financial plan that can be submitted to the legislature next January. We'll work all summer on this job."

The whole state government has been reorganized. Think of it—there are no less than 102 separate bureaus and departments under the sun but the governor! The governor is the foreman and he's supposed to keep all those organizations in order. He couldn't if he were six governors! It is an impossible form of government as far as efficiency is concerned.

"My program will be to change that. Nine-tenths of what is needed at Harrisburg is a question of executive action, and not legislation. I've got a real job ahead."

Pinchot gives a big share of credit for his victory to the women.

"You can't dictate to women politically," he said. "They won't stand for it."

Perjury in Connection with Affidavit to Supreme Court
Is Charge Made

Fargo, N. D., May 23.—O. E. Loftus, former state bank examiner of North Dakota, has been notified of his indictment on a perjury charge by the recent Cass county grand jury investigating the affairs of the defunct Scandinavian American Bank today, it was announced at the sheriff's office. This completes the list of 13 men, including A. C. Townley, indicted by the jury.

The one indictment against Mr. Loftus is based on charges that he signed an affidavit which was used before the state supreme court to secure re-opening of the Scandinavian American Bank when it was really insolvent.

A preliminary hearing was held here on that charge several months ago but Mr. Loftus was freed on the answer that he had not sworn to the affidavit in question.

N. G. Eggen, former vice-president of the closed Fargo bank, arrived today from Los Angeles today prepared to give bond.

Officers were today notified that P. R. Sherman arrested in Los Angeles, had decided not to fight extradition but will come to Fargo.

Town to Start Hunt

Columbus, Ga., May 23.—Residents of this city will hold a mass meeting tonight to formulate plans for apprehending bomb plotters who continue to threaten the life of J. H. Dizon, city manager. G. H. Hinkle, after being in the front of the mayor's home Sunday morning following anonymous demands for the resignation of the two officials.

On the heels of authorization of rewards totaling $10,000 by the city and county commissioners for evidence leading to the persons responsible for the outrage another anonymous letter and a postcard reiterating the threats against the two officials were received by the mayor last night.

CRIMINAL PAST

Washington, May 23.—Discovery through "finger printing" that 49 of the 460 employees of the registry division of the New York postoffice had criminal records was reported today by Acting Postmaster General Bartlett upon his return from an investigation of the New York office. All of the 49 have been dropped from the service, Mr. Bartlett said.

The acting postmaster-general told the President the discovery came during his inquiry into the arrest late Thursday of seven employees of the office whose arrests it was asserted cleared up the last six months and involving nearly $2,000,000. The arrests also are said to have thwarted a gigantic robbery planned for last Friday night in the registry division itself.

JOSEPH KOOKER,
BANKER, ENTERS
STATE CAMPAIGNWill be Candidate for Secretary
Of State on Stegner Clean-
Up Platform

PETITIONS CIRCULATED

Stegner, Serungard and Kooker
Will Campaign Together
Through State

Joseph Kooker, well known banker of Dawson, N. D., today announced his candidacy for secretary of state, on the "clean up" program. He will make the race on the platform recently announced by H. L. Stegner of Bismarck. The men pledged to scrap the program and turn the key in the door of the Bank of North Dakota, cease issuing bonds to pile up taxes in losing state owned enterprises are preparing to make a vigorous campaign.

H. L. Stegner, Silver Serungard, candidate for Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor and Mr. Kooker will campaign together and stand up on the same general platform. Mr. Kooker is one of the most popular of the younger bankers of the state. He is well versed in the official duties that are imposed upon the office of secretary of state.

Friends began circulating his petitions today in Kidder and Burleigh counties as well as other sections of the state. Petitions for Stegner and Serungard, it is reported, will be ready for filing Thursday or Friday. A promise of support and assistance are coming in from all parts of the state for the "Clean-Up Ticket" as it is being called. The Stegner platform is attracting great attention throughout the state. Many league who are tired of the industrial program and with all the old gang politicians and their bosses see in this new ticket a chance to do some constructive work in ending the ruinous taxes and in preventing either the league or the V. A. from continuing to levy mortgages on farms and chattels through excessive bond issues for state socialism.

According to information received here from Bottineau, Peter Scott, of that city a former game warden for the northern part of the state, will enter the race for auditor on the Stegner ticket.

FINDS THEY ARE MODEST

North Dakota will not have a representative in the "Living Hall of Fame" at the Disabled Veterans' convention to be held in San Francisco, officially named. Adjutant-General G. A. Fraser, in a letter to Governor Nestos, declares that the task of selecting the greatest living hero of the war from North Dakota is too great for any man or committee.

Replying to a letter from Governor Nestos in which the Governor suggested that General Fraser, Capt. G. A. M. Anderson and Major G. H. Russ, Vice-Commander of the American Legion, Department of North Dakota, select and name the North Dakota hero for the "Living Hall of Fame," General Fraser says:

"I beg to inform you that I cannot act on such a committee. I have arrived at this conclusion after working over the records of a great many North Dakota boys, and the more I have gone into this matter, the more I have been convinced that the whole idea of the 'Living Hall of Fame' is a mistake and that no body of men is competent to select such a man."

"Hundreds of our North Dakota boys performed deeds of great heroism; many of them were decorated by their own government and others were decorated by the governments of England, France, Italy and Poland. I do not believe that a single one of these men desire to be named or pointed out as the 'Greatest Hero.' They offered their life in battle or dashed through shell swept areas to rescue a wounded comrade. What can be greater than this? How can there be any measure of such heroism? What gauge can we use to measure it? Who can sit down and calmly declare 'This man is the Supreme Hero of North Dakota.' It would be unfair to other men and distasteful to the man named."

"I believe that I know about how the boys feel in regard to this matter, and I believe that as Governor of this state you will be justified in refusing to name any man for the 'Living Hall of Fame.' Since Governor Nestos asked the committee of military men to recommend an appointment and the committee refuses no one will be named."

From Belfast as Clean-up
Campaign Begins

Belfast, May 23.—(By the A. P.)—This afternoon that 300 Sinn Feiners had been taken prisoners by the Ulster authorities and that they would be interrogated.

The greatest raid in the history of Ireland was carried out early today, when swarms of police swept through Ulster and rounded up more than 300 Sinn Feiners, the majority of whom were Irish Republican army officers. The northern government's action was taken, it was stated, in an effort to suppress not only the Irish Republican army and the Irish Republican Brotherhood but all other Sinn Fein organizations in the six-county area.

The government's move follows swiftly upon Irish Republican army raids and burnings of buildings in the counties of Down and Antrim and the intensified hostilities in Belfast recently, culminating in the murder yesterday of W. J. Twaddell, member of the Ulster parliament.

Nearly every town and village in Ulster was visited, but the bulk of the prisoners were taken in the country.

London, May 23.—(By the A. P.)—At today's meeting of the parliament of Northern Ireland, Sir James Craig, premier, announced that the Irish Republican army had been proclaimed an illegal assembly, says a Central News dispatch from Belfast.

The parliament later adjourned as a mark of respect to the late W. J. Twaddell.

Early today in County Down, 10 members of the I. R. A. clashed with a military searching party and a sharp fight ensued. The Sinn Feiners were captured and one was mortally wounded.

Washington, May 23.—President Harding was represented at the White House as merely hopeful that voluntary reductions in transportation rates would result from last Saturday night's White House dinner conference attended by 19 of the leading railroad executives of the country. Obstacles in the way of obtaining voluntary action by the railroads in the way of rate reductions on the basis desired by the administration were described at the White House as somewhat formidable.

MANY SPEAKING DATES PLANNED FOR GOVERNOR

To Make Several Commencement And Other Addresses in The Near Future

The key-note address of Governor Nestos' campaign for re-election will be made during the first part of June, at a place not yet selected. In his address the Governor is expected to outline the issues upon which the administration goes before the voters of the state for endorsement, in the primary of June 28.

The first of many addresses will be delivered at Wilton on May 26 at the commencement exercises of the high school by the Governor. He will speak on Memorial Sunday at exercises to be held in Bismarck, and on June 2 will deliver an address to the graduating class of the Dickinson high school.

Speaking Dates

Following a meeting of the pardon board during the first few days of June the Governor will speak in Kindred, Cass county, on June 7 at a celebration of several lodges of the Sons of Norway. He will speak in Valley City on June 8 at the convention of the United Commercial Travelers. On June 9 the Governor will speak at Concordia college, Moorhead, Minn.; at La Crosse, Wisconsin on June 11 and on June 12 at 13 he will attend the 20th annual reunion of his class at the University of Wisconsin. The Governor probably will speak to the retail merchants of the state in Grand Forks on the morning of June 15 and that night will deliver the graduating class address at Jamestown college.

Governor Nestos returned to the capitol Saturday afternoon from a five-days trip into Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois.

"In Milwaukee, Racine and Chicago I found renewed interest in North Dakota and especially in its opportunities for land buyers and renters," the Governor said. "In these cities he conferred with real estate men, met many farmers and immigration agents who are closely in touch with conditions."

"They were already convinced," he continued, "that the North Dakota lands were cheaper in proportion to production than lands that could be secured in any other state and when they heard what progress has been made in our state in an increased production of corn, hogs, poultry, potatoes and dairy products they appeared to be still further reassured and confident that by coming where they may get lands at the present cheap rate and raising products that had produced prosperity in the older states they had a real opportunity to advance their own financial welfare."

Endorses Worst Plan.

"Not only are there prospective settlers," he said, "but there are many people whom I met who had a little money to invest and they seemed to be acquiring a new interest in North Dakota and many expressed the intention of investing their surplus earnings in North Dakota bonds and mortgages. Many questions were asked by those in the several cities in which I spoke and all of them indicated a very great interest in our present development and future progress."

Belief was expressed by the Governor that this summer is an opportune time for all North Dakota boosters to enlist the sympathetic ear of friends in the central states in the possibilities of North Dakota.

"I see that Dr. Worst is advocating that all citizens of North Dakota invite a friend from the central west to visit the state and see its possibilities," the Governor said. "I think this is a splendid idea and trust that every agency interested in the development of the state and especially in immigration John Dr. Worst and the department of immigration in making this campaign."

OFFER TO GIVE LAND FOR PARK IS MADE CITY

Henry Tatley Would Grant City Four and Half Acres For South Side Park

An offer by Henry Tatley to donate about four and one-half acres of land in the Lincoln Improvement Addition on the south side for park purposes was presented to the city commission last night. Commissioner Thompson urged the consideration of the gift, suggesting the land could be used for park and playground purposes on the south side. Mr. Tatley spent the winter in California but is returning to the city soon for the summer.

The commission ordered in a sidewalk on Broadway, between Mandan and Washington avenues, upon petition.

A communication from the Boy Scouts, signed by Geo. H. Russ, Glen Wallace and Arthur Nathan, called attention to violations of public safety principles. The report named many buildings in the city in which it said the law was violated which provided doors must swing outward and be not less than four feet wide with proper landings and stairways of at least equal width. The report was made by the Scouts in their merit badge work in the following text: "Name the most serious violation of public safety principles which has come under his observation and produce satisfactory evidence that he has done all within his power to correct the same."

The matter was referred to the state fire marshal, it being stated by Commissioner Thompson that he alone had jurisdiction in such matters.

A written complaint was filed by Eva C. Dingle to the effect that insufficient water pressure was received at 104 Avenue C to enable her to sprinkle a lawn or proper service for the house. This was referred to the state railroad commission, Commis-

WALTER HAMPDEN HAS HAD ROMANTIC CAREER AND REMARKABLE SUCCESS

There is no more romantic story of the contemporary theater than that of Walter Hampden, who four or five years ago was playing in New York in such farce comedies as "Be Calm, Camille" and "Good Gracious Annabelle." He comes to Auditorium on Friday night, May 26th, with a reputation, gained mostly in the last three years, of standing "definitely and incontestably at the head of all living American tragedians" to quote the veteran critic of the New York Post.

Mr. Hampden is an American and a Harvard graduate of the class of 1900. The call of the concert stage found him first and he went to Paris to study music. Even at that time his historic ability was so marked that he was offered parts by French producers but he held to his original schedule of waiting until he went to England, where he was made a member of the famous company formed by Frank Benson, since knighted. With the organization he played 70 roles in the standard drama, many of them Shakespearean.

After three years with Benson, Mr. Hampden became a London leading man, appearing first in a romantic drama, "The Prayer of the World." He was then engaged for the role of Laertes in the great production of "Hamlet," then being staged by Sir

Clayton Thompson saying that body had broken every franchise the city had and therefore ought to look after matters of service.

FREAK RAIN DRENCHES CITY

Cloudburst Downtown While It Only Sprinkles at Capitol

The cloudburst which drenched Bismarck yesterday afternoon was a freak rain. While the water was pouring down in torrents in the downtown district it barely sprinkled at the capitol and golfers played at the Country Club during the 12 minutes in which more than a half-inch rain fell downtown. The rain extended east for some distance. The penitentiary reported that the rain seemed hardest in the north field of the prison farm. It only sprinkled in Mandan.

"Persons coming from the east reported that there was a heavy hail at McKenzie. A traveler from Kindred, 68 miles southeast, reported a heavy rain Sunday night."

Several basements in the downtown district were flooded by the swift downpour of yesterday afternoon. Business was suspended for the time being in some of them. No serious loss to stocks of goods was reported today, however.

After "Greenwich Village Follies" tonight make an evening of it at The McKenzie. Good music, dancing, special Chinese dishes, Chicken Chow Mein, Chinese Chop Suey, Egg Foo Young, Shrimp Foo Young, Kumquats. No charge for dancing, no service less than 50c.

COOPERATIVE BANK SHOWS LARGE GAINS

Deposits and Resources Have Doubled Since Its "Conversion" Four Months Ago

Cleveland, O., May 23.—Officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Cooperative National Bank of this city, which owns a majority of the stock of the People's Co-operative State Bank of Hammond, Indiana, announce that the deposits and resources of the Hammond bank have doubled in amount since its conversion into a cooperative institution four months ago.

Banks throughout the country have been interested in the development of this bank, since it is the first cooperative bank in the United States to be organized under a state charter. Instead of instituting an additional bank, representatives of the Railway Brotherhoods and trades unionists of Hammond bought up a majority of the stock of a bank already chartered under state laws, increased the capital to $50,000 with $5,000 surplus, and changed the by-laws of the bank so that its earnings would be shared with depositors.

The report just released by the parent bank in Cleveland shows deposits of $241,393.24 on Feb. 15, an increase of over 100 percent over deposits on Oct. 7 last, when the cooperators acquired ownership of the bank. Resources similarly increased during the same period from $163,153.48 to $300,383.99. Officers of the bank attribute this remarkable growth largely to the cooperative principle, and to the fact that the People's Cooperative State Bank is paying a higher interest rate to depositors than the non-cooperative banks of the city.

"LADIES MUST LIVE"

WILL CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY OF YELLOWSTONE

The Man Who Discovered Yellowstone Park Was Jim Bridger

BACK IN THE "FIFTIES"

Will Celebrate Its Semi-Centennial As a National Park Next Month

Ashton, Idaho, May 23.—Back in the "fifties" when there was not even a trail between here and Salt Lake City a man arrived at a spot not far from this place, slipped off his horse and looked around. He saw boiling hot water shooting up out of the earth. When he got back the other side of the Beton range and told the folks about it, he established for his lifetime at any rate a reputation of being "the biggest liar west of St. Mo."

The man was Jim Bridger and he had discovered Yellowstone Park. Few believed his tales of sky mounting smokes and egg boiling geysers. "Loco" was the term applied to Jim. That was long ago. Yellowstone will in June celebrate its semi-centennial as a national park. On May 1, 1872, congress passed the bill creating the opening day is June 18. Last year 81,651 people "made" the park. Officials hope to see the 100,000 mark reached this season.

In 1869 Bridger's stories had resulted in C. W. Cook and David Folsom making the trip. They saw it. They had seen it and more. They were followed by the Washburn expedition. These army men got the idea of a national park. In this party were Gen. H. B. Washburn, Lieut. G. C. Doane and several civilians.

"The sky over Yellowstone National Park is shell pink," says a monograph of the American Forestry Association, "the trees are not blue, the waters of the great lakes in no wise resemble red ink and the geysers do not spout streams of molten metal, as some have been led to believe. It is possible to traverse the woodland trails and see many trees without seeing a grizzly bear. The buffaloes and antelopes do not crowd the tourists and stages from the highways. It is quite possible to spend a week in the Park without being molested by 'denizens,' as some nature lovers delight in calling the hapless bears and other animals of the Park."

Wild Animals Abound
"Buffalo, antelope and bear abound in this largest of national parks, and they may be seen without difficulty, but that they are no numerous as to interrupt one in the pursuit of pleasures, is purely a figment of the imagination."

There are more natural phenomena to be seen in Yellowstone National Park than in any other equal area in the United States. Add to this the fact that there is a great lake fifteen miles wide at its widest point, and twenty miles long, the placid surface of which is seventy-eight hundred feet above the sea level, a great of rainbow hues through which a mighty river roars on its way to the sea, hundreds of square miles of great forests and broken, saw-toothed crests and you have a combination which will inspire even a cowboy. Everything is on a giant scale. Distances are great, canyons are of terrifying depth, mountain peaks raise their lofty crests to inconceivable heights.

The northern and western entrances are most used. In the early history of the Park, most of the travel came in by the northern entrance, which is but a few miles from Fort Yellowstone, where, at one time, was stationed a very considerable force of cavalry.

"From Yellowstone the road follows the Madison river to its junction with the Firehole River, where it branches. One road follows the Gibbon River to the north, while the other follows the Valley of the Firehole. The road along the Firehole is particularly beautiful, as it clings for miles to the very edge of the river until it reaches what is known as the lower Geyser Basin. In this Basin are the famous Mammoth Paint Pots, which are really nothing but mud geysers, the contents of which look and get like nothing so much as vividly colored mud that is being boiled and tossed by escaping steam."

"Old Faithful Geyser may be seen to spout, with its never interrupted regularity, at intervals of one hour and five minutes. From the veranda may also be seen many of the geysers across the road on the eastern border of the Basin, and the entire surrounding has the appearance of a manufacturing town with the innumerable jets of steam rising from unseen escapes."

Falls Are Among the Finest
"There is no doubt that the Falls of the Yellowstone River in the Canyon are among the finest in the world. At the Upper Falls the entire river passes over a drop of one hundred and nine feet. The Lower Falls is a drop of three hundred and eight feet. The Canyon is approximately one thousand feet deep, and its walls and sloping sides are of the most varied hues imaginable."

"Fort Yellowstone has quite an air of romance surrounding it. It has housed some of the most distinguished soldiers in the army, many of whom received their medals of distinction in the Indian fights in the Northwest. Now, the soldiers like the real cowboys are gone. One of the most interesting natural phenomena in the Park is built of a number of terraces formed by the depositing of salts from solution in the hot water of the springs. The colors of these terraces change from day to day, and offer a never ending source of interest and wonderment to the visitors."

"The Park is the largest of the National system and contains over two million acres. There are hundreds of miles of trails, innumerable lakes, streams and wonderful mountain peaks, together with an infinite variety of natural phenomena, all of which offer sufficient interest to en-

MANDAN NEWS

Pilgrimage Date Changed

The "Plymouth Rock Pilgrimage," planned for June 21 by the Mandan Commercial club has been changed to June 16, it is announced by Secretary Sullivan of the Commercial club. The pilgrimage is to be to the farm of John Christenson, 16 miles southwest of Mandan, which is famous for its Plymouth Rock chickens. F. Benz, immigration agent of the Northern Pacific, will be the principal speaker. The change in date is made because the date of the New Salem dairy tour is June 22. Although the "Plymouth Rock Pilgrimage" date was set before the New Salem tour date the Mandan club is changing the date of the pilgrimage as a compliment to the New Salem boosters.

A. G. Arvold Talks To Mandan Masons

"We owe much to Billy Florence, founder of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine, who 50 years ago launched the order with the organization of Mecca temple in New York City," said A. G. Arvold, past illustrious potentate of El Zagal shrine, Fargo, in addressing the Mandan Shrine club Sunday afternoon.

"The shrine is rightly called the playground of Masonry, and it is veritably true that founded on the spirit of good fellowship it teaches men to play. When men play they hold no grudges against any man, sect, sex or creed. We have over half a million Shriners in the United States today, and over 2,700 in the Fargo temple," he said.

"T. L. Lewis, present potentate of El Zagal also addressed the nobility outlining the big program scheduled for June 2 when El Zagal park will be dedicated and a ceremonial held."

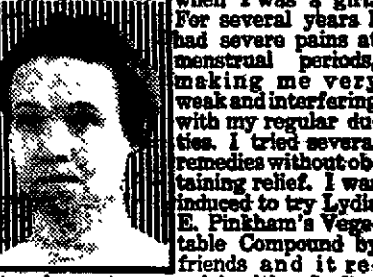

The two were guests of honor at a meeting and dinner yesterday when 55 local Shriners greeted them. The dinner was served at 3 o'clock at the Lewis and Clark hotel and was followed by a smoker and meeting at the Masonic hall. Clever pyramid shaped place cards in blue print, prepared by Carl Convent adorned the tables carrying appropriate greetings, the menu and verse.

Besides Messrs. Arvold and Lewis, others who were called upon by Otto Bauer, chairman, for brief talks were Col. L. N. Steen, Carson; G. P. Erick-

FROM GIRLHOOD TO WOMANHOOD

Woman Relied Upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Emporia, Kansas.—"I began using Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines years ago when I was a girl. For several years I had severe pains at menstrual periods, making me very weak and interfering with my regular duties. I tried several remedies without obtaining relief. I was induced to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by friends and it restored me to normal health. I often have occasion to do so and do recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends who have troubles similar to my own. You may use these facts as a testimonial."

EVA ALDRICH, 218 Union St., Emporia, Kansas.

There are many women who first used our Vegetable Compound during their girlhood days. They found it a valuable help during trying periods. In later years they use it whenever they feel those annoying symptoms which women often have.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is prepared carefully from the best quality of medicinal plants, whose properties are especially adapted to correct the troubles women have.

Today's word is CHAGRIN. It's pronounced cha-grin, or, especially by the English, shagreen, with accent in either case, on the second syllable.

It means—that which worries, vexes or mortifies; melancholy.

Its origin—is uncertain.

It's used like this—"Oldline politicians are showing considerable chagrin over the defeat of New by Beveridge in Indiana, and of the Republican machine by Pinchot in Pennsylvania."

FARMERS STILL GETTING WORST OF IT—WORSHAM

Corn, Barley, Oats, Eggs and Beef Are Still Below The 1913 Price Level

Pierre, S. D., May 23.—Although there is a gradual leveling up of farm prices with prices of other commodities, and although prices of most farm products are even now fairly good, still the farmer continues to get the worst of the bargain when he goes to town to make his necessary purchases, according to an article by C. G. Worsham, in the current monthly bulletin of the state department of agriculture. Mr. Worsham is a member of the cost of production survey operating under the department.

"According to the bureau of labor statistics," Mr. Worsham says, "all commodities were listed at 152 per cent for the entire United States, taking prices prevalent in 1913 as being 100 per cent."

"Even though farm prices are improving," he continues, "it will be at least four months before many South Dakota farmers can realize in them for the reason that 80 per cent of the total farm sales occur during the seven months between September and March inclusive. It is what the price of farm products will be in the fall rather than what they are now that is going to determine the prosperity of the farmers this year."

Corn, barley, oats, eggs and beef are still below the 1913 price level, Mr. Worsham points out in the table accompanying his article. Wheat, potatoes, hay, wool, butter and hogs, on the other hand are about the 1913 price. However, he continues to show, wheat, rye and potatoes are the only articles of the 12 which had a greater purchase power during the month of March than they did in 1913 when compared with all other commodities. a a 7muwd cfw shrdl cfwy fwy twann

Regulate the Feeding of Your Year-Old Child

"CEREAL AND MILK FOR ME PLEASE"

By Mrs. Max West
Late of the United States Children's Bureau.

At one year of age, the average healthy baby may have a day's feeding, something like this:

6 a. m. A cup or bottle of warm milk.

9 a. m. Orange juice, mixed with water, one or two tablespoonfuls.

10 a. m. A saucer of well-cooked cereal, with milk, but no sugar. In hot weather, cold cereal jelly may be used. A cup of cool milk.

2 p. m. A small helping of some green vegetable, mashed; a little beef juice, or some cold beef or chicken broth which has jellied; a small saucer of rice. A piece of crisp toast or dried bread. A cup of milk. A soft egg may be given in the place of the broth or beef juice, or a cup of vegetable soup.

6 p. m. Same as 10 a. m. At either of these meals a thick cereal gruel may be given with the milk.

10 p. m. A few babies may still require a cup or bottle of milk when the mother goes to bed, but many babies will have been taught before this age to sleep all night.

At 18 months, the same plan will be followed, but at this age, the child may have a small helping of finely

(Established 1873)

THE OLDEST MYSTERY
The Swastika, pictured here, is the oldest symbol in the world. Also, it is the oldest mystery. You find it engraved on primitive tools, dug up in the mounds of the Ohio, Tennessee and Mississippi mound-builders, who inhabited America before the Indians.

The Swastika also is found in the most ancient ruins of Alaska, Mexico, Brazil, Egypt, Babylon, China, Japan, India, Assyria, Phoenicia, Persia, Tibet, Greece—and nearly every other country in the world, including obscure islands. Buddha, according to myth, carved the Swastika on the soles of his sandals, and oriental statues of him often have their feet decorated to correspond. The Swastika is the international symbol for good luck and general welfare—like our horse-shoe, the negro's rabbit-foot and the "chung-meng-fu-go!" sign that is painted on the door of nearly every Chinese home.

The Swastika's origin is unknown. But archaeologists, the ditch-diggers of science, have tracked it back to the beginning of the Bronze Age, 4500 years ago.

For all we know, the Swastika may have been old then.

How did it spread over the earth and become known in countries that are supposed to have had no knowledge of each other in ancient times?

Christopher Columbus unquestionably knew the Swastika, possibly had it painted on his ships for luck. Yet, mark that it was used by the mound-builders in America centuries before Columbus was born. How did they get it?

The only plausible explanation of the universal use of the Swastika comes from China.

The Chinese—who claim that their explorer, Fu-sang, visited America 1050 years before Columbus—believe that civilization travels in an endless wave—up 30,000 years, then down 30,000, so on forever. That's why Chinese mythology tells of "flying men" far back in antiquity.

The earth may be 1,700,000,000 years old, says Prof. William Duane, of Harvard Medical School. He bases his calculation on radio-activity.

Regardless of the number of years, queer things are buried back there in the past, as shown by the Swastika, oldest mystery.

INDIAN

Big Bill, Caddo Indian weighing 624 pounds, walks into a store at Gracemount, Oklahoma, and orders his summer clothes. For the many who would pay 50 cents to see Bill's huge body in a sideshow: The trousers will measure eight feet around the waist and Bill's new shirt takes 10 yards of cloth.

Fortunate for Big Bill, that he lives in modern times. Our ancestors would have measured him for a wooden kimono. We are more tolerant, in 1922, having stolen nearly everything the Indians had that was worth taking.

When the stealing takes place in Europe, Asia or Africa, we sputter piously.

MORTGAGED

You used to hear a lot of talk about the evil of going into debt. As recently as 15 years ago, a man was considered foolish if he signed his future earnings over to the money-lenders, regardless of the purpose he had in mind. A mortgage was such a fetish that no Lincoln J. Carter melodrama was complete without it.

That idea has been patted in the face by the grave-digger's spade. Common now, for people to borrow money or buy on the installment plan.

Usually, it is a foolish system when applied to luxuries that the buyer cannot afford.

But it is an excellent system for acquiring bonds, homes, furniture and the like. By going into debt, many people become rich who otherwise never would save a penny.

FLOATING

Rodger Dolan writes, wants to know what keeps the earth from falling as it floats in space.

No mystery about it. What we call "down" is "up" to Chinese on the opposite side of the earth. If earth fell downward under our feet, Chinese would say, "The globe is rising, carrying us with it, like an elevator."

Obviously, if the earth fell, it would have to fall outward in all directions. Unable to do that, except by exploding into atoms, it does the opposite—remains afloat in space like a toy balloon. As usual, it seems amazing that the impossible does not happen.

JOKER

There seems to be a joker in nearly everything. American farmers in March, latest month for which Uncle Sam has compiled complete figures, exported 22,668,000 bushels of corn, compared with only 13,371,000 bushels in March, 1921.

That looks like big news. Here is the joker: Corn exports increased 70 per cent in bushels, but total money paid for the corn increased only 33 per cent. Win on one hand, lose on the other.

CRUELTY

A law, to curb trained animal acts and possibly prohibit them entirely, is being framed by the British parliament.

The idea back of the movement is a good one—that trained animal acts are based on cruelty and usually are without educational value.

As old circus men put it, "All that's necessary to train a wild animal is kindness and a red-hot iron."

Killing animals for sport, or training them for exhibition at a profit, is a survival of savagery.

If England passes the proposed law, she should hand a copy of it to the young prince of Wales, who recently butchered tigers and elephants in India. It may be sensible to kill man-eating tigers, but that was not his motive.

LUSITANIA

H. Ensor, expert at raising sunken ships or salvaging their cargoes by divers, says the Lusitania is so far under water that each square foot of her is subject to a pressure of 10 tons. If so, the giant steel ship probably is crushed like an eggshell.

Big weight to lift. Pressure would mash a diver to a pulp.

These trifling obstacles do not worry ambitious men who will sail May 25 from Philadelphia, to attempt to salvage millions of dollars worth of gold believed to be in the Lusitania.

Gold is the universal and eternal lure. Seeking it, men admit no impossibilities. Will the salvagers succeed? Maybe, not. But it is only by attempting the seemingly impossible that men occasionally attain exceptional success. Confidence is nine-tenths of victory.

AIR-FLIVVERS

Bert Acosta flies his Curtiss "Wildcat" airplane 208 miles an hour. This is at Mineola, L. I., during a "spring flying meet"—the 1922-model county fair. The speed broke the world's record by five miles. Unluckily for Acosta, it was not official, so doesn't count in the records.

What interested the crowd most was the Mummert, world's smallest airplane. It weighs 550 pounds, has a wing spread of 18 feet and measures only 12 feet the other way.

That is close to the universally desired flying flivver. All that's needed now is quantity production and a device that will make the plane rise or descend perpendicularly instead of having to "take off" by gliding over a long landing field.

This missing link will be found.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

STILL SHEARING LAMBS

The latest jest in Wall Street concerns the bucket shop operator who bitterly complained to the lawyer who visited him in jail that "the newspapers are ruining business."

Despite all press exposures, however, swindlers are taking a half-billion dollars per annum of the people's money, according to Congressman E. E. Denison of Illinois. He is urging passage in the House of a "blue sky" law to curb these all-too-numerous "Wallfords" and "Blackie Daws."

The methods of these crooks are surprisingly simple. Whatever form the "graft" takes, it is predicated on an appeal to cupidity. "Promise 'em everything" is the motto of the unholy crew. Each year thousands, probably tens of thousands, pay for these promises with cold cash. Later on they add to the purchase price heartburnings, regret, sorrow and sometimes death.

No mercy should be shown the rascals who stage these buccaneering expeditions. They are financial pirates who should be, metaphorically at least, strung up to the judicial yardarm whenever captured.

Nevertheless, it is astonishing that so many should be willing to venture their all—in some instances, their lifetime savings—on propositions, the very claims for which should be sufficient to prove them fraudulent.—Seattle Times.

GREAT BURDEN ON THE PRESS

Alexander Robertson and Miss Mary Culberson are doing all they can to keep their romance quiet. Mr. Robertson's part in this plan so far has been to involve the British embassy and after a three-hour conference with its representatives to dash out of a garage past a small army of reporters and photographers in a roadster appropriated from the embassy attaches. If the reporters do not give the couple some publicity under these circumstances it will bring to mind the cub who returned from a wedding and said he didn't get a story because the bridegroom didn't show up and they didn't have the wedding.—Kansas City Star.

"HUGO, FIRST" SUPPLANTS KAISER AS GERMANY'S UNCROWNED RULER

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager for NEA Service.

Berlin, May 23.—There is still a foolish impression abroad in America that the great war was fought for the aggrandizement of the House of Hohenzollern and, especially, of Emperor Wilhelm the Second of Germany. Come here to the immense capital of the country, or visit the Ruhr Valley and you will find many who will swear the conflict was fought for the enrichment of the House of Stinnes and that Hugo the First, Only and Unique, is really the uncrowned king of this so-called republic.

King Hugo the First is everything Wilhelm Hohenzollern was not. Wilhelm was blond and erect. Hugo is black and stooping. Wilhelm was talkative as a hungry parrot. Hugo is silent as the traditional clam. Wilhelm sought the limelight. Hugo flees from it. Wilhelm loved to be photographed. Hugo avoids the snapshots as if they had the black plague.

Wilhelm liked to droll up in glad rags. Hugo wears the same old black suit and claps an old "dice-box" on his head. Wilhelm made a bluff at appreciating all the arts. The only picture Hugo likes is the lithograph of a factory with the smoke pouring from all its chimneys.

Their single resemblance is that the Hohenzollern power was founded when the family made the marriages of the Mark of Brandenburg and the Stinnes power was founded when they got hold of a coal pit at Mulheim.

How Stinnes started: Back in Napoleonic times Matthias Stinnes at the age of 18 started the family fortunes. The Stinnes before him had worked on the Ruhr and the Rhine. They were shipping people, engaged in hauling produce up and down the river in the days before steamships and railways.

To Matthias came a vision. Coal was supplanting wood as a fuel. He would combine three businesses—shipping, coal digging and coal selling. His own ships would carry his own coal to his own yards. It was a simple formula, but he worked it out long before his neighbors.

Everything his famous grandson has done has been to expand this formula until now the Stinnes enterprises, instead of being confined to the Ruhr region, are spread all over Germany, and extend into Finland, Sweden, Austria and Switzerland.

The capital with which Matthias Stinnes started his career was exactly 1210 depreciated Rhinish German thalers. But he was enterprising. He was the first to introduce the steamship into the Rhine hauling business. At his death in 1845 he possessed four coal mines, a shipyard, a fleet of coal-carrying ships and barges and 23 coal yards where the fuel was supplied to the purchasing community.

All the Stinnes family had to do was to keep the property together and grow up with the country. No boom district in America ever saw an increase in wealth, population and industry similar to that of the Rhinish Westphalian region centered about the waters of the Rhine and the Ruhr. This was especially marked after Germany's victorious war with France in 1870. This gave her Loraine, whose precious iron was added to the boundless coal of the Ruhr. Cities sprang up like magic.

Unaffected by War Today even with Germany defeated, Loraine back in French hands—world business in the doldrums—there are few scenes like those to be witnessed in the Stinnes home country. Take all the towns around Pittsburgh in America and Birmingham in England, multiply them by five and you have the Ruhr.

It was amid these surroundings that Hugo Stinnes grew up. The coal and smoke seem to have entered his blood and colored his hair. This is why Dr. Herman Binckmeyer, a noted German publicist, called Stinnes an animated lump of coal and a German newspaper called him an Assyrian king. His black hair, his dead white face, his curved nose make many think him of Jewish blood. But he isn't. Back to Luther the Stinnes have been Evangelical Protestants.

Started Early In his early years Stinnes had a career similar to that of many sons of American business men. He went to a commercial school in Coblenz, got some practical work in a coal mine and completed his education at a mining academy in Essen.

At 19 he entered the Stinnes firm and at 23, emulating his grandfather, he struck out for himself. Characteristically he called his firm "Hugo Stinnes, Incorporated." His capital was 50,000 marks. Even 25 years ago that wasn't a large sum in the Ruhr but it sufficed.

Stinnes went forward from success to success. He did not excite public imagination, nor stir it to fear, anger or admiration. He was just one of many German business men who were plugging their coin. He lived plainly and simply in his native Mulheim. His office was and still is just a little room with a desk and a few chairs. The same simplicity rules today in his office in Berlin.

The war both gave Stinnes his opportunities and made him well known. Stinnes had in his hands the things a war-making nation needs the most.

Monarchist circles became aware of Stinnes' existence. He was often called to Berlin for consultation. He became a valued adviser on industrial mobilization of German resources. And what is remembered in Germany, his most bitterly today in Germany, and especially in radical circles, is that he advocated policies that gave Germany such a black name.

They say he urged the submarine war to the limit. They say he advocated dismantling of Belgian mills. And finally they say he advocated the wholesale deportation of Belgian men and women who were carried into Germany to replace the labor Germany lost when she sent her last sons to the war.

Since the armistice Stinnes has played an even larger part in Germany's life. He has as much as about the ex-king in former days. He has added a new word to the dictionary. When an editor writes that a business has been "Stinnesized," everybody in Germany knows it means the business has been gobbled up by one of the Stinnes trusts. He has been called hard names such as "vampire of the proletariat" and "immoral opportunist."

Ambition Unknown

Nobody knows what his real ambition is. Some time ago a German leader, after a somewhat heated conference with him, bluntly asked: "Why do you work so hard to pile up the money?" Stinnes' answer was: "For my children." There are six of them and the boys are in business with him.

Stinnes has never revealed his real self. When he speaks in the Reichstag, where he is one of the representatives of the German People's party, it is with a high reedy voice which is unappealing. And his utterances are mainly about business matters.

I was specially interested to find out how he got along with the nearly million men who work for Stinnes or the enterprises in which he is a large shareholder.

He himself is quoted in a labor pamphlet as saying: "When we want to undertake a big business proposition we ask two questions first of all. First, who is the man who will direct it? Second, whose are the thorough workmen? If one can't find both, one lets the thing alone. We must have this division of work in the future, too. We must leave to the undertaker of the enterprise what is his—the direction. And we must strive to see that the workers get the greatest possible benefit out of the enterprise."

"Ford of Germany."

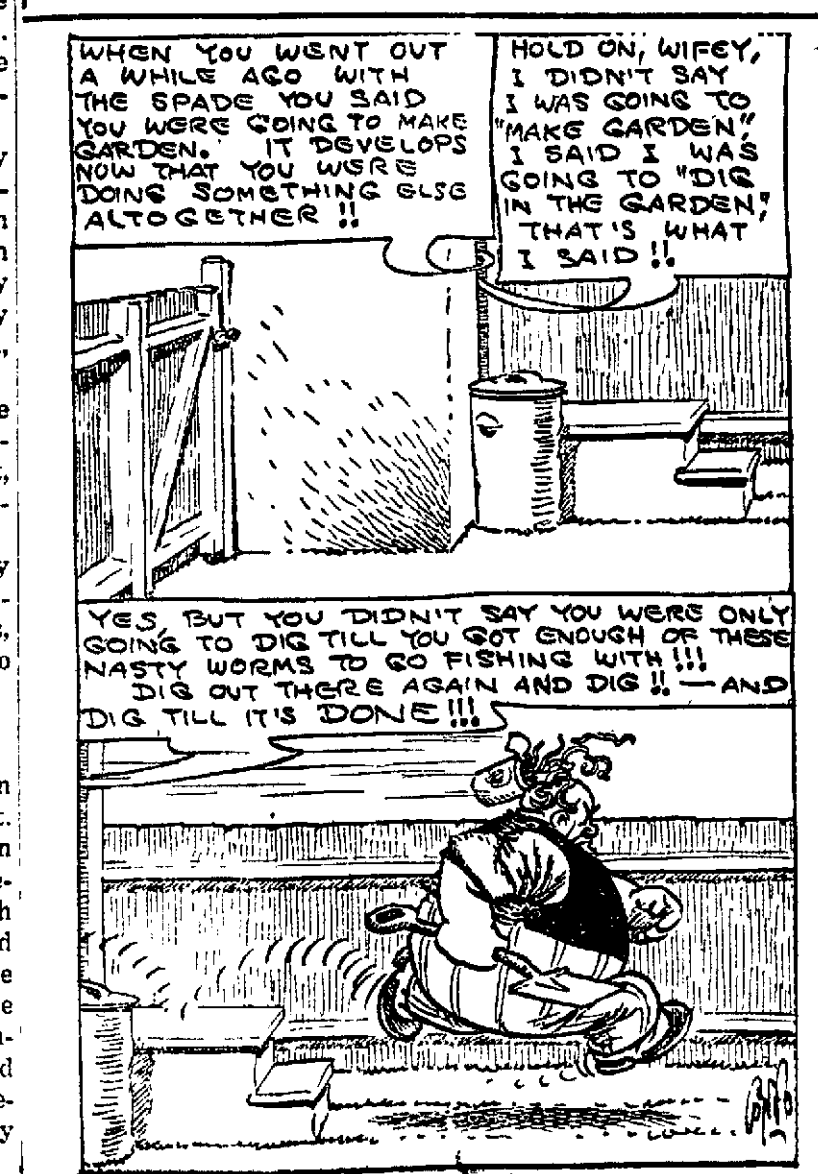

Some people call him the Ford of Germany. They tell you that he leads in paying good wages. They say he led in building homes and workmen's colonies and was one of the first to institute workmen's committees which could rectify their grievances to the bosses.

But I found the great labor paper, Vorwarts, was opposed to Stinnes as anti-social. As one of the editorial staff explained to me: "Stinnes pays good wages, but with the understanding that he is going to demand big prices. He thus seeks to set his workmen up against the nation as a whole. We want fair pay for his workmen, but we also want fair play for the whole people of Germany."

(Copyright, 1922, NEA Service.)

In his next story Bronner tells how Stinnes built up his huge empire.

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

"What do you want us to do?" asked Nancy, when Mr. Peerabout, the Man-in-the-Moon, had finished telling them about his enemy, old Comet-Legs.

"Well," said Mr. Peerabout, getting up from the floor where he had been sitting and going over to his old cupboard—the one where he kept his ruby salt-shaker with the magic powder. "I want you and Nick to go and find him. I'd do it myself, only I have to stay here and run the moon."

"Is he hard to catch?" asked Nick excitedly.

"Hard!" exclaimed Mr. Peerabout, turning suddenly and throwing up his hands. "Hard! As he rides a shooting-star you may judge that for yourselves. Greased lightning is a slow freight train beside him, my dears. Yes, if you want to catch him you'll have to hurry."

"But," protested Nancy, "our magic Green Shoes only go a hundred miles a minute," Mr. Peerabout. "We'll never catch him."

"Ha!" winked old Peerabout, laying his finger beside his nose in a comical manner. "Just you wait."

He turned again to his cupboard and, reaching in, brought out another shaker like the ruby one, only this one was blue instead of red, and sparkled like frost on diamonds.

"Oh!" gasped Nancy, "how beautiful!"

"My!" declared Nick. "Isn't that fine!"

"Humph!" said Mr. Peerabout, squinting one eye. "This old thing! Why, it's just made out of an old sapphire that I picked up one day old in the Golden Forest."

The twins then remembered that valuable things weren't much thought of in that queer place. And that things we think are worthless moon-people prize highly.

"The real value of this is in the inside," said Mr. Peerabout, tapping the blue shaker proudly. "It contains another kind of magic powder, the kind that straightens crooked things. If a little of this would touch Comet-Legs his legs would straighten and he could never ride his shooting-star again."

W. I. Walker of Omaha submitted a bid of $43.08, and J. G. Brady of Aberdeen bid of $39.17. The final award will be made by the Indian office. Mr. Brady was present at the opening of bids. SPORTS

RUTH MAKES FIRST HOMER

New York, May 23.—Babe Ruth made his first home run of the season in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with St. Louis.

This time last year Ruth had 12 home runs of his record string of 59 for the season. On May 25, 1921, he increased it to 13.

Kenneth Williams, his St. Louis rival, who played in the game against him today, has been on a "home run" slump since coming east. Ruth is only ten markers behind the League leader.

MILE. LENGLEN IS VICTORIOUS

Brussels, May 23.—Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen successfully defended her title to the international hard court tennis championship by defeating Miss Elizabeth Ryan of California in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2.

The French girl won without having to extend her set.

French players won four of the five championships, while an American player, Miss Ryan, shared with Mlle. Lenglen in the fifth. It was a foregone conclusion that, with Australia out of the tournament and only Miss Ryan to play for America, France was most likely to make a practically a clean sweep in the tournament.

France uncovered a real champion in young Cochet of Lyons. Cochet, who is 21 years of age, never lost his composure when pitted against the veterans.

CARSON TAKES YEAR'S BANNER

Carson, N. D., May 23.—Shields high school girls played baseball at Leth Saturday in the county playday events, defeating Carson in the feature of the program by a score of 32 to 2. The Shields girls played a brand of baseball that would make some boys sit up and take notice.

The Carson public schools succeeded in capturing the athletic banner in the playday events, for the third successive year and thus permanently winning the county banner. The Carson relay team, winners of the silver cup for the relay races in the Slope track meet at Dickinson normal May 12, had little trouble winning the relay at Leth. Elgin took second place.

BIG FIELD FOR INDIANAPOLIS MOTOR SPEEDWAY EVENT

Thirty-two cars are entered for the tenth annual 50-mile international sweepstakes on the Indianapolis motor speedway May 30. The field is the largest since engines not exceeding 183 cubic inches piston displacement became the rule.

Of the winners of the nine past races on the Indianapolis track three have retired from the sport, one is dead, and the fifth, Rene Thomas, was unable to complete his plans to bring over a Franch car this year. The remaining four are entered again. They are Ralph De Palma, Howard Wilcox, Tommy Milton and Jules Goux.

De Palma, who won in 1917, after two trials with a Ballot, is now to drive a Duesenberg Straight-Eight. Wilcox runs his faith to a Peugeot, with which he won in 1919. Milton the victor a year ago with a Chevrolet Frontenac-Eight, has had a car built in Los Angeles, not yet named Goux, winner in 1913 with a Peugeot has entered two Ballots. He will drive one himself, but has not yet picked a teammate.

Among other notable entrants are W. Douglas Hawkes, who will pilot the first Bentley car ever brought from England for an American race. Jimmy Murphy, who won the 1921 French Grand Prix, despite two broken ribs; Roscoe Charles, last year's Indianapolis runner-up; Jack Curtner and Glenn Howard, who will drive the first fivers ever entered in the world's greatest auto race; I. P. Fetterman, winner of the stock car races at Uniontown, and Eddie Hearne and Ralph Mulford, veterans of the first race ever run over the Hoosier speed way, and, in the case of Mulford, like Wilcox, a participant in every contest on the same track since then.

For the first time in the history of the local course, a woman has nominated a car to start the race. She is Mrs. Mae Harvey of Los Angeles, Cal. Mrs. Harvey had obtained the services of Jerry Wonderlic to drive her machine, but lost him when he purchased a racer himself. She has not announced who will be at the wheel if her car qualifies. The machine is one of a famous racing make and is said to be fast enough to give real competition.

Several of the cars this year will try out the radio telephone. Special equipment has been installed on the cars with the idea of permitting the mechanic to keep in touch with his pit manager. After several laps on the course have been roared off, drivers and their mechanics lose count of the distance they have traveled. The radio is expected to overcome this difficulty for the pilots.

The cars entered are seven more in number than a year ago, when Milton came within 22 of a second of equalling the track average of 89.84 miles an hour, established by De Palma in 1917 with a much larger engine. In the past 11 months the drivers have managed to increase their cars' speed and many predictions are made that this year's winner will set a record.

Winners of all the 500-mile races ever run on the local track and the times, follow:

Year	Winner	Time	Av. per hour
1911	Ray Harroun	6:42:08	74.54
1912	Joe Dawson	6:21:06	78.7
1913	Jules Goux	6:35:05	76.92
1914	Rene Thomas	6:03:45	82.47
1915	Ralph DePalma	5:33:51	89.84
1919	Howard Wilcox	5:50:42	88.04
1920	Gaston Chevrolet	5:38:32	88.50
1921	Tommy Milton	5:34:44	89.62

In 1916, the race was cut to 30 miles, Darle Resta winning in 3:34:17 average 82.26 miles per hour. There were no races in 1917 and 1918 because of the world war.

The prize aggregate $100,000, of which the track offers $50,000 in gold.

WISHEK TEAM IS VICTORIOUS IN ASHLEY GAME

Wishak, N. D., May 23.—The Wishak baseball team went to Ashley Sunday afternoon to meet their oldtime rivals. Last year the two teams met twice with the following results: Wishak won the first game, Ashley the second. The third game was played on neutral ground and Mott, pitching for Wishak, shut the opponents out by 5 to 0 score. The first game this year was a real battle, with Ashley trying their best to win. Ashley had gone into the woods and picked out all the old timber they could find and brought them in one at a time as the game progressed. Mott, pitching for Wishak, held the opposing sluggers down with six hits while his teammates collected 11, including a three-base hit by Elsinger. He also struck out 17 men while Hodge, the opposing pitcher fanned only six.

The two teams play at Wishak again next Sunday and a hard fought battle is expected.

The score by innings:

Batteries—Wishak, Mott and Brandt; Ashley, Hodge and Kretschmar, Heuter.

On the 14th Wishak played against Lehr and won by a 4 to 0 score. Mott, for Wishak, struck out 19 men.

Wishak has a fast team this year and would like to meet teams within a radius of 50 miles.

BEULAH TAKES BASEBALL GAME

Beulah, N. D., May 23.—Golden Valley won a ninth inning rally finish game Sunday from Beulah at the former town's diamond by a score of 5 to 1. The game was tight, both pitchers doing effective work.

The score was 0 to 0 until the sixth inning when Beulah donned batting clothes and hammered in seven runs. Golden Valley came back in the ninth when "Red" Nunn, centerfielder, clouted for a three-bagger sending in two scores. Batteries were Balond and Chadwick for Beulah; Zeisler and Halbensen for Golden Valley.

Every Standard Oil Product A Primary Product

THE term by-product is susceptible of misinterpretation. In the manufacturing activities of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there are no by-products. The making of every product is a separate activity. Each is made to conform to a predetermined standard, and is judged strictly on its merits as a primary product.

Lubricating oils made by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) conform to a standard fixed by lubricating engineers to meet the needs of various types of machinery. The standard being fixed, it is necessary to obtain crude oil of the particular type best adapted to yield the lubricating units which will conform to this standard.

There are many kinds of crude petroleum, each differing one from the other. Even between the oils delivered by different wells in the same field a considerable variance has been noted. One kind of crude oil will yield a maximum of lubricating oil of fine quality; another may yield little, or none, of these fractions, but will yield a maximum of gasoline.

In selecting crudes for lubricants, for instance, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been careful to choose those which have the physical characteristics necessary to maintain the correct lubricating body under working conditions. These crudes are then carefully processed and refined to produce the long line of lubricants manufactured and sold by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

Their manufacture is a business in itself. From the choice of materials which go into them, down to the last operation of refining, they are of primary consideration. This care in the selection of raw materials; every step of the refining process, and the fact that products manufactured by this Company are of superior quality is recognized generally. This is evidenced by the fact that during 1921 nearly 25 million gallons of Polarine, the Perfect Motor Oil, were needed to supply the demand.

So with every product refined by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Each is made to perform a certain service, and each goes to the consumer with the unqualified guarantee of this Company that it is exactly as represented and that it will give a maximum of service, at a price which is fair to all.
